Winston-Salem State University is an accredited, four-year, coeducational, state-supported liberal arts institution. Founded as the Slater Industrial Academy in 1892, it was chartered by the state in 1897 as the Slater Industrial and State Normal School. In 1925 a new charter granted by the North Carolina General Assembly extended its curriculum to four years above high school, changed the name to Winston-Salem Teachers College and empowered it to confer appropriate degrees. It thus became the first black institution in the United States to grant degrees for teaching in the elementary grades.

Pursuant to action of the North Carolina General Assembly of 1953, the Nursing School of the Winston-Salem Teachers College was established. The four-year nursing program emphasizes academic and professional training. Graduates are awarded the degree of Bachelor of Science in Nursing. In 1957 the North Carolina General Assembly revised the charter of the college and authorized the expansion of the curriculum to include general education and other specific training directed and determined by the State Board of Higher Education.

The North Carolina General Assembly in 1963 changed the name of the institution to Winston-Salem State College. In 1969 Winston-Salem State achieved university status.

Effective July 1, 1972, by legislative enactment of the 1971 North Carolina General Assembly, Winston-Salem State University became one of the 16 Public institutions of higher education in North Carolina comprising the University of North Carolina.

Located in the Golden Triad of Piedmont North Carolina, Winston-Salem State affords its students the opportunity for academic and cultural development. The University has an enrollment which exceeds 2,200 students who represent over 20 states and three foreign countries.

The University plant consists of 26 well-equipped and substantial buildings on a rapidly growing 76-acre campus. The University community is undergoing transition and expansion both academically and physically.

Former chief administrators of the institution are Simon Green Atkins, President 1892-1904 and 1913-1934; Cadd Grant O'Kelly, President 1904-1910; Francis Marion Kennedy, President 1910-1913; Francis Loguen Atkins, President 1934-1961; and Kenneth Raynor Williams, President 1961-1972 and Chancellor 1972-1977. Chancellor Douglas Covington, who assumed office in July 1977, is the sixth administrator to lead the institution as it experiences continuous growth and development.

The University has a standing commitment to maintain a high standard of excellence in its academic offerings, to stimulate intellectual inquiry, and to provide students with the concepts and skills necessary to meet the challenges of today's society.

President — 1961-1972

The rewards of your educational experience at Winston-Salem State University will last a lifetime. WSSU offers challenging and stimulating academic programs in a warm, friendly learning environment. There is a wide range of social and recreational activities.

Winston-Salem State University is a four-year coeducational institution, offering more than 20 undergraduate degree programs. WSSU is one of the 16 institutions of higher learning that comprise the University of North Carolina. WSSU has a wide choice of professions, including teaching, nursing, medical technology, business administration and computer science.

About half of our 2,200 students live on campus. Seven residence halls provide excellent living quarters, and a central dining facility provides sensibly-priced home-style cooking. Fast-food meal service is also available. The Student Life Office aids in helping students who do not desire to live on campus to find off-campus living accomodations.

The WSSU campus covers 76 acres, providing lots of breathing room and a highly-livable atmosphere for on-campus students.

WSSU maintains an efficient health service and a well-equipped infirmary on campus, under the direction of the University physician and supervising nurse. Consulting services are available from doctors, dentists and other medical specialists.

WSSU offers degree programs in four divisions — the Division of Applied Arts and Sciences, the Division of Education, and Division of Liberal Arts and Sciences, and the Division of Nursing.

The University offers degree programs leading to the bachelor of science, and bachelor of arts, and bachelor of science in applied science degrees. You can earn a second bachelor's degree by meeting requirements for both degrees.

WSSU is a small institution, and our small size is an advantage. The student-facility ratio is 15:1, which allows for individualized instruction. Many students feel that the small class sizes help them adjust to the challenge of college academics. Our small size creates a friendly community environment and it is easy to get to know fellow students and instructors.

WSSU considers a well-rounded social, cultural and personal life just as important as academics. There are 88 student organizations including honor societies, professional associations, religious groups, hobby and sports clubs, and fraternities and sororities.

The sports tradition is an integral and exciting facet of campus life. The WSSU basketball team is a perennial powerhouse, led by the nation's winningest active coach, C.E. "Bighouse" Gaines. The Rams also field highly competitive teams in football, wrestling, women's basketball, volleyball, tennis, and track.

Dr. Douglas Covington
Chancellor
1977

WSSU's intramural program enables you to compete against fellow students in basketball, volleyball, track and field, touch football and bowling.

The University is an active member of the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA), the Central Intercollegiate Athletic Association (CIAA), and the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA).

Nationally famous lecturers, popular performers and renowned art exhibits are brought to the University through the Lyceum Cultural Events Series. Broadway musicals like "The Wiz" have been staged in the 1,800-seat Williams Auditorium on the WSSU campus.

Knowledge: Our Ultimate Ambition

~ The Class of 84 ~

SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

With the slogan, "Knowledge: Our Ultimate Ambition," we were led by the hard work and dedication of our freshman class president, Karl Menefee. While under his leadership, we had the opportunity to sponsor a bus to the first Black College Day; we started the Mr. Atlas/Ms. Bathing Beauty Contest; we held a picnic for the freshman class at Reynold's Park; and last but not least, we saw Evette Darden elected Miss Freshman.

In 1980-1981 we boasted a class enrollment 883 strong but by our Sophomore year our class enrollment had dropped to 442. Nevertheless, our sophomore class president, Frank Lawson worked diligently to acquire class unity by designing and guiding the sales of our class tee shirts. As sophomores we also enjoyed a trip to Carowinds and saw Gail Welch represent us well in her position as Miss Sophomore.

Our junior year was highlighted by many great firsts for the University. A $1 million gift was sponsored by R.J. Reynolds Industry, which enabled the building, completion, and dedication of the Francis L. Atkins Nursing Building, the conversion of Wallace Street into a mall, and the renovation of the Kennedy Dining Hall. Under the Mass Communications coordinator, Mr. Clarence W. Thomas, radio station WSNC-FM began it's broadcast as the radio voice of the WSSU Rams; the construction of the new Business Building and the dedication of the Sculpture Gardens which is the only one of its kind in the UNC school system. 1982 also brought such entertainers as Peabo Bryson, Roberta Flack, and Ray Charles. We were dazzled by such Broadway hits as, "A Chorus Line," "Eubie," and "Ain't Misbehavin'." We had the opportunity to listen to such distinguished literary personalities as Maya Angelou, Sterling Brown, and Ron Milner.

By 1982-1983 our class enrollment had dropped to 415 but under the patient leadership of Antonio Dove, the junior class president, the class enjoyed a pizza party; a memorable Homecoming which boasted the school's first beer blast; and the reign of Anita Spikes as Miss Junior.

We are moving towards the end of our journey with Esther Cox as our leader and Dr. Shirley Manigault as our advisor. We'll have many great memories of our senior year at Old SU which include the reign of Teresa Brown as Miss Senior and the opening of the renovated dining hall. We've watched the university grow as we have grown and now we are ready to depart and serve and continue to pursue our ultimate ambition.

ALMA MATER

As we go forth from old State U,
A song of praise we sing to you,
In praises to the memory
Of days at State University.
Thy sons and daughters bring thee fame
Through knowledge which we have gained.
Exultingly we raise thy name,
O Winston-Salem State University.
As we go forth from old State U,
Good leaders we will always be,
And stand for all humanity,
As you've taught us, State University.
In all we do we shall proclaim
To all the world thy teaching fame,
As we go forth we praise they name,
O Winston-Salem State University.

WINSTON-SALEM
. . . The Camel City
. . . The Twin City
. . . The City of Roses

WHERE WE ARE

Winston-Salem, the fourth largest city in North Carolina, is situated in the picturesque Piedmont Triad. Located in Forsyth County, Winston-Salem serves as the financial, distribution, and transportation center of Northwest North Carolina. Winston-Salem is 329 miles from Atlanta, 349 miles from Washington, D.C., and 585 miles from New York City. Winston-Salem's elevation is 963 feet above sea level.

OUR WEATHER REPORT

Winston-Salem enjoys a favorable climate, due in large part to its central location between the mountains to the west and the coast to the east. Extremely cold temperatures during the winter are rare, as the mountains have a sheltering effect and act as a barrier to cold air masses moving eastward from the interior of the nation. Excessive accumulations of snow are rare. During summer months, tropic air brings relatively high temperatures to the area. Pertinent facts relating to the climate appear below:

Average monthly temperature 59°
Average winter temperature 41°
Average summer temperature 77°
Average relative humidity 66°
Annual average rainfall 35"
Annual average snowfall 9"

POPULATION

Winston-Salem's population is 139,000. Forsyth County's population is 246,000. The Greensboro — High Point — Winston-Salem Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area (SMSA) is ranked as the 48th largest in the United States, out of 270 areas. In fact, the Greensboro — High Point — Winston-Salem SMSA is currently the largest between Atlanta and Washington, D.C.

THE WINSTON-SALEM ECONOMY

Over 250 diversified industries are located in Winston-Salem, employing 45,000 people. Principal items manufactured in Forsyth County are as varied as the well-known companies that produce them. The list includes: tobacco products from R.J. Reynolds Industries, textiles from Hanes, beer from Schlitz, electronic equipment from Western Electric, and fabricated metal products from Salem Steel. Companies headquartered in Forsyth County include: R.J. Reynolds Industries, Inc., Wachovia Bank and Trust, and Piedmont Aviation. In 1981, retail sales in Forsyth County exceeded $1.9 billion. This means, of course, that a great deal of money is changing hands, and the area's financial needs are met by 10 banks and 7 savings and loan association, each with numerous branch offices. Three insurance firms are also headquartered in Winston-Salem.

Winston-Salem is a major transportation center. Two railroad lines and 20 off-line railroad offices serve the city. In addition, 48 motor freight carriers do business here. These trucks travel the area's extensive highway system, which has enabled Forsyth County to gain a reputation as an important agricultural center. Air service is available through Winston-Salem's Smith-Reynolds Airport, and the

Winston-Salem Savings

Greensboro — High Point — Winston-Salem Regional Airport. Nine commercial airlines, as well as several commuter airlines, serve these airports.

EARLY HISTORY

Winston-Salem is a city which has built an energetic and progressive present upon a past rich with history. In 1753, a group of Moravians bought from Lord Granville 100,000 acres in the rich Piedmont region of North Carolina. They named their new land Wachovia, after the Austrian estate of Count Nicholas Lewis von Zinzendorf, an early protector of Moravian Church.

THE COFFEE POT

Winston-Salem's Symbol of Hospitality

The historic coffee pot was erected in 1858 by Julius and Samuel Mickey, tinsmiths in Salem, as the sign announcing their trade. It stands today just outside Old Salem as the symbol of Winston-Salem's hospitality.

The town of Salem, meaning "peace", was begun in 1766 as the central town in the new settlement. The new town grew rapidly as a religious center, and as a center of crafts and trades. Its early days were marked with historic events. Nathaniel Greene's soldiers and Cornwallis passed through Salem. In 1791, George Washington spent two nights in the small town. Salem prospered and grew as cotton and wool manufacturing companies opened.

In 1849, the North Carolina Legislature created the new county of Forsyth, and Winston was founded as the county seat. The courthouse square was laid only one mile north of Salem Square, and the streets of the two towns were planned to run together. Winston was named for Major Joseph Winston, Revolutionary War hero; Forsyth County was named for Colonel Benjamin Forsyth, hero of the War of 1812. The new town of Winston grew rapidly as various industries, particularly tobacco, furniture, and textiles, prospered. Winston and Salem grew together, both in boundaries and in interest. In 1913, by vote of the citizens of both communities, they were consolidated as Winston-Salem, the Twin City."

EDUCATION

Winston-Salem has four colleges and universities, with a total enrollment approaching 8,000 students. The four are Winston-Salem State University, the North Carolina School of the Arts, Salem College, and Wake Forest University.

LIBRARIES

Winston-Salem and Forsyth County operate a Headquarters Library and eight branches, with a total of 320,000 volumes. The new Headquarters Library, located at 660 West Fifth Street, is the largest public library in the state.

CHURCHES

A total of 327 churches, meetinghouses, and synagogues are available to area citizens. On Easter Sunday, thousands of worshipers attend the world famous Moravian Sunrise Service on Salem Square in Old Salem.

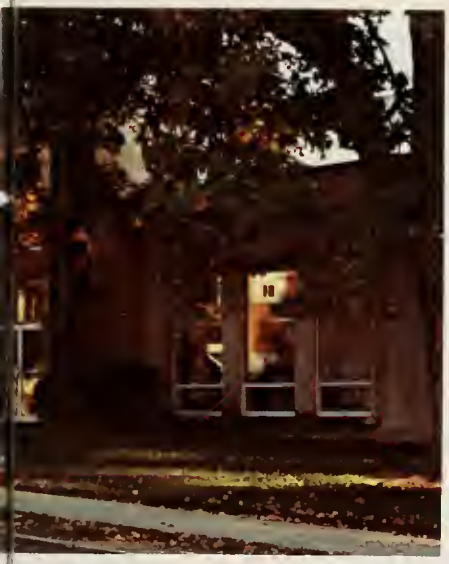
MEDICAL FACILITIES

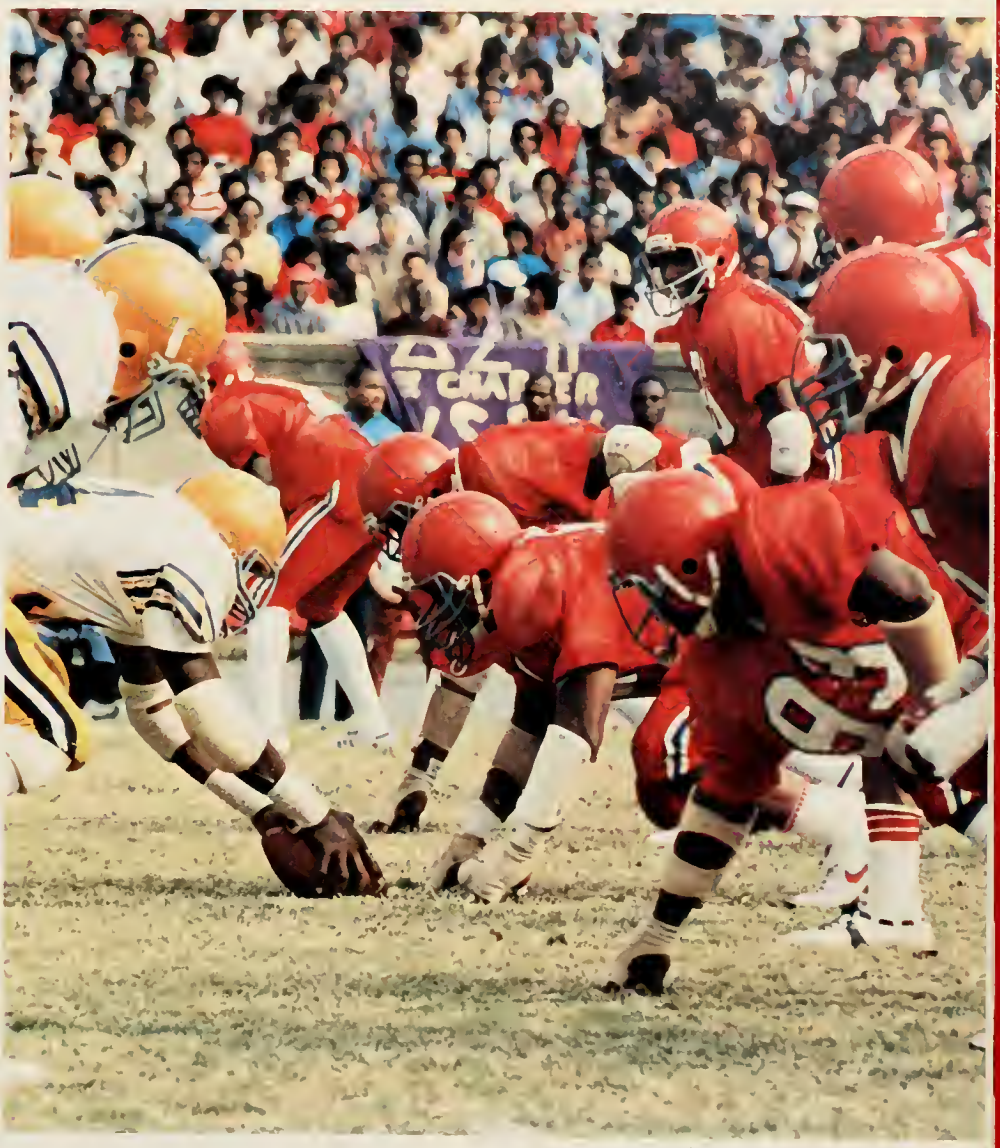
Undoubtedly, Winston-Salem is one of the region's leading medical centers. Hospitals include Forsyth Memorial, Medical Park, and North Carolina Baptist Hospital.

Wake Forest University's Bowman Gray School of Medicine is part of the North Carolina Baptist Hospital complex, Mandala Center, Inc., is also located in Winston-Salem.

SPORTS AND RECREATION

The Winston-Salem area has 50 public parks operated by the Recreation Department. Playgrounds and picnic areas are in abundance. Golf is a favorite sport, due to the favorable climate and a multitude of challenging public and private courses. Included in the public golf courses is county-owned Tanglewood Park, site of the 1974 PGA Championship. Other leisure time activities include tennis, boating, fishing, swimming, hiking, and bowling. Winston-Salem also has 114 softball fields and 57 gymnasiums.





The Twin City offers a large number of spectator sporting events, including Atlantic Coast Conference action at Groves Stadium and Memorial Coliseum, Central Intercollegiate Athletic Association football and stock car racing at Bowman Gray Stadium, minor league baseball at Ernie Shore Field, and minor league ice hockey at Memorial Coliseum.

ARTS AND CULTURE

Winston-Salem's evolution as the cultural center of the Southeast began even before the founding of Salem in 1766, as a small number of Moravians made their way from Pennsylvania to the Piedmont of North Carolina. These settlers were craftsmen by trade and necessity, and they brought with them the riches of their artistry and music, establishing a tradition and love of art that has continued to enrich the lives of our citizens even today. The cultural vitality and liveliness of the Twin City cannot be separated from the progress that Winston-Salem has seen in all other areas of its development. The people of Winston-Salem continue to make the arts happen. In 1949 the need to organize and focus a direction for the arts in Winston-Salem was felt, and the Arts Council, Inc. was established, the first arts council in the country. Constant and continuing interest from private, public, and corporate supporters of the arts have allowed The Arts Council to grow and become a model for the nation.

The ten Funded Members of The Arts Council are the American Guild of Organists, Associated Artists of Winston-Salem, Children's Theatre Board, Piedmont Chamber Singers, Piedmont Opera Theatre, Sawtooth Center of Visual Design, Southeastern Center for Contemporary Art, The Little Theatre, Wachovia Little Symphony, and the Winston-Salem Symphony Association. Programs include Urban Arts, a vital arm of the Council that takes the arts to the neighborhoods and the people, Community Box Office and Artsline, and Projects Pool, and funding source for new and innovative arts projects.

Working directly with the city of Winston-Salem, the Arts Council has expanded to downtown in an effort to keep the arts available to everyone, to keep downtown vibrant and lively as an arts center, and to encourage the growth and development of Winston-Salem in all spheres. Winston Square and its adjoining park are located in the heart of the city for the enjoyment of all. Sawtooth Center of Visual Design, Associated Artists of Winston-Salem, SECCA, Urban Arts, the Arts Council and other cultural organizations offer programs and exhibitions the year round at Winston Square.

Winston-Square has a neighbor to the north, establishing for Winston-Salem a cultural block: The Roger L. Stevens Center for Performing Arts. The Stevens Center will expand the performances presented by the North Carolina School of the Arts into downtown at a 1,440 seat, renovated theatre for dance, drama and opera.

Old Salem, recognized as one of the most authentic restorations in America, recaptures the serently, resourcefulness and hardy spirit of this 18th century Moravian town. The Single Brothers House, Miksch Tobacco Shop, Salem Tavern, Winkler Bakery, and the Market-Fire House are among the restored buildings open to the public for guided tours. The most recently restored building is the Single Brothers Workshop, in which classes and unique workshops are offered focusing on traditional Moravian crafts and culture.

Old Salem is also the home of the Museum of Early Southern Decorative Art MESDA), which houses an impressive collection of art and antiquities produced in the South from the late 17th to the early 19th centuries. Educational programs and lectures are offered to supplement the experience of touring the 15 rooms of Southern interiors.

Reynolds House, former home of Richard J. Reynolds, was transformed in 1967 into a museum of American art, with an exceptional collection of paintings by such noted artists as Gilbert Stuart, Frederic Church, and Andrew Wyeth, prints by major comtemporary artists, the complete collection of porcelain birds by Dorothy Doughty, elegant original furnishings and a collection of clothing worn by the Reynolds family since 1905.

Piedmont Craftsmen, Inc., founded in 1964, provides the city with exposure to outstanding contemporary crafts, not only at the Craft Shop near Old Salem, but also at the annual Piedmont Crafts Fair each November, featuring the work of 125 regional craftsmen of the highest caliber. Like many other organizations, Piedmont Craftsmen offers workshops, lectures, exhibits and educational programs.

The Southeastern Center for Contemporary Art (SECCA) brings to Winston-Salem the exciting work of exceptional artists from ten neighboring states in constantly changing exhibits, displayed in a modern gallery adjoining the former home of James G.

Hanes. SECCA is one of the Southeast's major exhibiting and art education centers. The Winston-Salem Symphony, one of three orchestras based in Winston-Salem, presents music to please everyone each year. Established in 1947 with 39 players, the orchestra has grown to its current size of approximately 90 players and now includes the Winston-Salem Symphony Choral. The Symphony presents world renowned artists in its Celebrity Series, four Sunday evening summer concerts at Graylyn estates, and Sunday Afternoon at the Pops in the winter. The Symphony also presents, in conjunction with the North Carolina School of the Arts Dance Department, "The Nutcracker" each December. Sawtooth Center of Visual Design, recently expanded into Winston Square, offers classes, programs and workshops in all phases of arts and crafts, from ceramics, weaving and drawing to photography, dance and music. With a fully professional teaching staff, Sawtooth Center has something for all ages and levels of proficiency.

The Little Theatre provides opportunities for community talent to blossom on stage and for its enthusiastic audience to enjoy theatre at its best. The Little Theatre also has an excellent ACT program for children and teens, hosts group trips to Broadway and keeps the community delightfully entertained.

This description of the cultural life in Winston-Salem just touches on the riches available to its citizens everyday. Winston-Salem overflows with activities and experiences that each of us can share, at leisure, at school, at work. Winston-Salem is a living example of the arts in action.

Office of the Chancellor

Dear Students:

Through the coming years, I sincerely hope that you will cherish the memory of your experiences and relationships at WSSU. This yearbook highlights some of the glorious days you have spent in our midst.

I am pleased to take this opportunity to extend my hearty congratulations to you, our graduating seniors, on behalf of your schoolmates, your teachers and the entire WSSU family. Obviously, college graduation is a significant milestone in your development....it marks both an end and a new beginning. It is the culmination of the years of preparation necessary to enable you to compete in an increasingly complex technological society. On the other hand, it is the commencement of new challenges, new opportunities and new personal growth and development. I am confident that each of you will be successful in your continuing pursuit of excellence.

We are proud of the history and traditions of this great institution. You are a vital part of our legacy, ready to "depart to serve" your alma mater, your profession, your community, and mankind. I wish you God's speed.

Warmest regards,

Douglas Covington

IN MEMORY OF
DR. WILFRED MEARS
MR. DAVID HALLIBURTON
DR. CLYDE PARKER
DR. WILLIAM SHEPPARD

It is with profound regret and sympathy that we, the Winston-Salem State University family acknowledge the loss of four members of our family. Dr. Wilfred Mears, Dr. Clyde Parker, and Dr. William Sheppard members of the faculty and Mr. David Halliburton, a member of the student body.

During the month of November, Dr. Wilfred Mears, Assistant Professor of Music passed. He had given eight years of devoted and dedicated service to this institution.

Also, in the month of November, Mr. David Halliburton, Jr. passed. He was a sophomore music major from Brooklyn, New York. He was known as a quiet, easy-going person loved by many.

In the month of January, Dr. Clyde Parker, Professor in the Department of Education passed. He had given thirteen years of devoted service until his untimely death.

In March, we lost still another great member of our family through the passing of Dr. William F. Sheppard, Director of Government Relations, who had spent his last thirteen years at Winston-Salem State University serving dynamically in several different capacities in addition to serving the community as chairman of the Winston-Salem/Forsyth County Board of Education.

Underclassman

A college education is a privilege. Therefore we as future graduating Rams, must make careful preparations with a serious purpose in mind. The first golden rule — there will be no classes before nine o'clock in the morning or after two o'clock in the afternoon. There will be no class between twelve and one due to lunchology. A student has his health to think of.

In our freshman year we learn the basic techniques of survival. Our parents and guardians are not here to mend the wounds and fatten our wallets. We learn how to run to the infirmary for minor aches and pains. We also realize what a joy it is to have a home-cooked meal.

In our sophomore year the newness starts to wear off. We learn how to take short cuts. For instance you can get dressed much quicker in the morning if you prepare everything the night before. We also finally come to the conclusion that eight hours of sleep is not necessary. Short naps during lectures are more beneficial.

In our junior year we have mastered all the traits of the freshmen and sophomores. We are finally ready to become students. We look to the seniors for guidance. We take more pride in our university by screaming out Ram cheers the loudest at the football games. We finally realize the importance of a good education if we make it that far. We become more sophisticated and conservative. Freshmen and sophomores seem so immature to us. We look forward to the job market because we know that we have something special to offer. We learn how to dream and pursue our dreams. This is best described by the words of Langston Hughes:

> Hold fast to dreams
> for if dreams die
> Life is a broken-wing bird > that cannot fly.

We proudly present our underclassman section.

The center serves as a laboratory facility where university students work under the supervision of their instructors, the center director and center staff to do projects, testing and have experiences with planning and implementing lessons and/or observations in specific areas of study. Experiences are provided which will contribute to the students understandings and competencies needed to perform and function as classroom leaders and/or other related fields they may pursue.

The center serves children ages 3-5, presently with three classrooms. An organized and planned educational program is implemented for center children. Activities are planned which will allow the child to progress at new steps of growth according to his interest and ability.

Clubs & Organizations

The university maintains that it is a necessary part of the student's education to develop his leadership ability, personality, social skills, and also broaden his interests and inspire him to make worthy use of leisure time. To satisfy this need a variety of clubs and organizations function on the campus throughout the school year. Students are encouraged to become members of clubs and organizations that best suit their interests. These organizations sponsor programs, projects, socials, and other activities which the student will find interesting, enjoyable and beneficial to campus life.

Students must be careful to keep the proper balance between their studies and extracurricular activities. A student must not allow himself to become so absorbed with club and organizational activity that his grade point average drops below the 2.00 standard. It is important for students to realize that their academic responsibilities take precedence over all other activities. However, they are encouraged to take part in non-instructional or extracurricular activities in order that they might have added experience in developing general initiative, self-expression, self-reliance, and poise. It is expected that students will conduct these activities and organizations in ways which will be helpful to all persons who participate.

STUDENT HONORS ORGANIZATION

HOMECOMING 1983 WSSU Pride Overflowing

Pride Overflowing

Homecoming is a special occasion for the Winston-Salem State University family. It is a time when the sons and daughters, past and present, assemble together to enjoy the warm inviting atmosphere of the university. It is a time for planning and reminiscing. Homecoming is also a time when the beauty of the campus shines. The buildings are dressed with decorations to remind us of this spectacular time of the year. Most importantly, it is a time when the students lay aside their books to just enjoy . . . enjoy . . . enjoy . . . We proudly display our red and white attire as we reveal our SU spirit.

Freshman day was the opening activity of Homecoming week 1983. It was followed by Sophomore day, Junior and Senior day. Each day was filled with special activities in support of each particular class. Our special guests, Jeffrey Osborne and Atlantic Starr, helped us celebrate Homecoming week. We fell in love as Jeffrey Osborne serenaded the audience with the melodious sound of his voice. As he sang his hit "Stay With Me Tonight," he almost persuaded the female portion of the audience to do just that! Atlantic Starr dazzled the audience with their fancy footwork. They shared with us a splendid collection of songs that captivated the hearts of the audience. We were well pleased with the show.

A Homecoming highlight was the Coronation of Miss WSSU. It will be a memorable day for the Rams. The beautiful University Royalties decorated the stage as our very own Paula Mickens, Miss Winston-Salem State University, descended onto the stage on a swing like an angel from heaven. The elegant radiance of her court along with the charm of our handsome talented Mr. Ram also helped to light the stage with a sparkling glow. This was a day of royalty indeed!

The mini parade is a bazaar event that the Rams look forward to every year. The marching Rams proudly paraded around campus in wild, outlandish costumes. A smile was present on the faces of the onlookers to show their utmost appreciation. After the parade, we headed over to the gymnasium to cheer on the Ram Football team to inspire a homecoming victory. "Hey! Hey! You know the story! Tell the whole wide world that this is Ram territory!" The crowd is pumped up for our fighting Rams. We expected an upset in our favor.

We were blessed with a beautiful Homecoming Day. The warm weather permitted the Homecoming parade to run smoothly WSSU displayed its wares on the town. The beauty, the band, the best in the land came from Winston-Salem State University. The climax of Homecoming is the football game. This year's football game started with a grand entrance from Miss Winston-Salem State University, who arrived in the center of the football field smack dab on the 50 in a Chopper 12 (WXII Channel 12) helicopter. Now what can beat that?

The football game had a slow start, but once we got started it was hard to stop! There just wasn't enough time to finish melting down the Golden Bulls. Halftime provided entertaining relief coming from both the bands. WSSU's Marching Rams showed no mercy as they stormed the field with Donna Summers' "She Works Hard For The Money." Then they slowed it down with O'Bryan's "You And I." After the slow feature number, the band stomped into their dance positions for some serious throwing down. Rick James' "Cold Blooded" never sounded better. The band shocked the crowd with a first, a double breakdown. Just when the crowd thought it was safe to breathe again, the band came back on the field and started throwing down again. The crowd went into a rage, and the Golden Bulls gazed on in disbelief. Who are they FAMU? Grambling? Norfolk? No!!! Someone far better; they're WSSU-wa. A week of excitement ended with the Rams triumphing over all. What excitement! What Challenge! What delight! What a Homecoming Week!

ACTIVITIES

Dear Fellow Rams:

I would like to express my gratitude to you for electing me as your Student Government Association President. Becoming President of the Student Government Association was one of my many dreams as a freshman. Through hard work, dedication and the support of my peers this dream has come true.

To the Class of '84, I wish to commend you for the success you have already achieved. You have seen this university go through various changes in it's growing process. There were times when you were uncomfortable and had to settle for less. You took all of this in stride. I compliment you. I wish you much success in all of your endeavors. The world is waiting for your contribution. I know that it will be a positive one.

Underclassmen, I encourage you to prusue your dreams. Reach for the stars and strive for excellence. Things are not going to be easy. Remember, anything worth having is worth working hard for. Always be prepared for a challenge.

Faculty, Administration, and Staff, I would like to thank you for the knowledge that you have shared. You have helped me to develop into a mature, responsible, self-confident adult. Winston-Salem State Univeristy builds our minds and bodies so that we can become secure enough to stand on our own feet.

I would like to thank my family for their love and support. I would also like to give special thanks to my inspiration. My ultimate appreciation is to GOD Almighty. Students, put GOD first in your life, and there will be no obstacles you can't conquer. Good luck and much success.

Sincerely,

Karl D. Menefee

WHO'S WHO

WHO'S WHO

WHO'S WHO AMONG STUDENTS IN AMERICAN COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES

Knowledge is the key to success. Courage opens the door. The first step is believing that you can. A positive attitude is needed to overcome the obstacles that you will encounter. These students are examples of the product of a determined mind and a winning spirit.

The 1983-84 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges will carry the names of twenty-three students from Winston-Salem State University who have been selected as being among the country's most outstanding campus leaders.

Campus Nominating committees and editors of the annual directory have included the names of these students based on their academic achievement, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities and future potential.

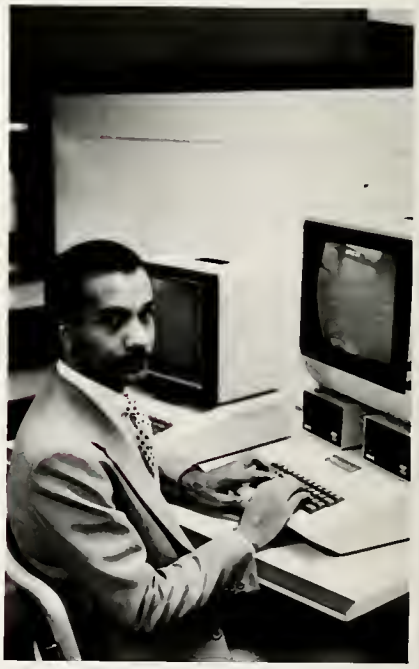
They join an elite group of students selected from more than 1,000 institutions of higher learning in all fifty states, the District of Columbia and several foreign nations.

Outstanding students have been honored in the annual directory since it was first published in 1934.

Michael D. Baker — Computer Science/ Mathematics — "Give a man a fish, he will eat for a day. Teach a man how to fish, he will eat for a life time."

Teresa O. Brown — Business Administration/ Information Systems — "Commit thou works unto the Lord and all thy thoughts shall be established."

Demetrice A. Bullock — Business Administration/ Information Systems — "There is something to learn from everyone."



Steven Byrd — Business Administration/ Information Systems — "With God All things are possible; put Him first and all other things will follow."

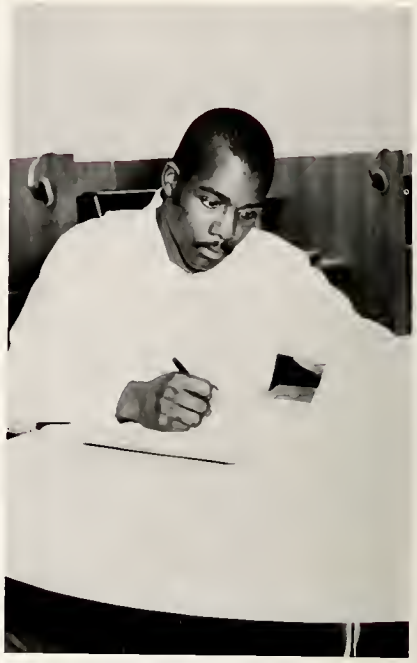
Exree John Hipp, Jr. — Business Administration — "With the trust and support of relatives and confidence in yourself, I feel you can accomplish any set goal."

Twela V. Edwards — Computer Science/ Mathematics — "I believe in reaping the ultimate potential from life's experiences maximizing my strengths and minimizing my weaknesses."

Sheila Y. Ijames — Intermediate Education — "Trust in the Lord with all thine heart; and lean not unto thine own understanding."

Gregory B. Jones — Music Education — "He prayest best, who lovest best, all things both great and small. For the dear God who lovest us, He made and lovest all."

Sherry Leonard — Psychology/Social Welfare — "May, in all these things we are more than conquerors through him that loved us."



Stanley D. King, Jr. — English — "All things are possible to those who believe."

Jimmy McRae — Computer Science — "Learn to see . . . listen . . . and think for yourself."

Emma D. Mathews — Music — "Whatever you give let it be your best and the best will come back to you."

Lynette Bailey Nickerson — Computer Science/ Mathematics — "The journey of a thousand miles begins with the first step. The courage lies in taking the first step."

Demetrice Syvette Payne — Business Administration — "I will not expect from others what I can not expect from myself."

Sharon D. Phillips — Sociology/Social Welfare/ Psychology — "Instead of criticizing others, find ways to improve yourself."

Kaaron Erika Saunders — English Education — "Determination, discipline, and love are the keys to success."

Kourtney A. Ryan — Political Science/English — "You can always tell when your are on the right road — it's an upgrade."

Priscilla Lynn Stanfield — Business Administration/ Accounting "Know from whence you came. If you know from when you came, there is no limit to where you can go."

Calvin O'Neal Suiter — Computer Science — "Shoot for the stars, no matter how great your success, life can only be enjoyed if you are happy."

Janice Marie Wiggins — Business Administration/ Information Systems — "All that man achieves and all that he fails to achieve is the direct result of his own thoughts." — James Allen

Gregory Lamont Williams — Business Administration/Accounting — "Prayer, self-motivation, positive thinking and the ability to persuade others are necessary for success in a competitive world."

SOMEBODY CARES

Somebody cares and always will,
The world forgets but God loves you still,
You cannot go beyond His Love
No matter what you're guilty of
For God forgives until the end,
He is your faithful, loyal friend,
And though you try to hide your face,
There is no shelter any place
That can escape his watchful eye,
For on the earth and in the sky
He's Ever present and always there
To take you in His tender care,
And bind the wounds and mend the breaks
When all the world around forsakes . . .
Somebody cares and loves you still
And God is the someone who always will.

TEACHING IN THE EARLY YEARS

DR. GOLDEN WALLS 1983 WACHOVIA EXCELLENCE IN TEACHING AWARD WINNER

"And gladly would he learn, and gladly teach."
Goeffrey Chaucer
Prologue, 1.
"The Canterbury Tales"

The effective teacher is a good student as Chaucer implies in "Prologue 1, The Canterbury Tales." The Wachovia Excellence in Teaching Award recognizes those qualities in educators at Winston-Salem State University.

The $1000 award is presented annually to an instructor who has been nominated and selected on the basis of teaching effectiveness, scholarly achievement, professional participation and community service. To be eligible, nominees must have taught for at least three years at WSSU. Each must also teach at least nine semester hours per semester during the year he or she is nominated.

An ad hoc committee is appointed to screen nominations and choose a winner. The committee is comprised of four faculty members — one each from the Divisions of Liberal Arts and Sciences, Applied Arts and Sciences, Education, and Nursing — one representative from the Alumni Association, one community representative, and three WSSU students. Two students are appointed by the president of the Student Government Association. All other members of the committee are appointed by the Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs. After evaluating the nominees, the selection committee recommends the recipient to the Chancellor.

The award is presented to the honoree during the Parents' Day/Honors Day Program each spring.

ATHLETICS: PRIDE OVERFLOWING

A major facet linking the students and faculty at Winston-Salem State University and the community is the overflowing pride exemplified in the spirit of ram athletics. The athletic program plays a major role in enhancing campus life.

WSSU's perennial powerhouse, basketball is led by the nations winningest active coach, C.E. "Bighouse" Gaines. The Ram's winning football, wrestling and women's basketball programs, also draw enthusiatic support. In addition, WSSU fields competitive sports such as volleyball, tennis, track and softball teams.

However, WSSU offers more than incollegiate sports. The university also sponsors an intramural program that enables the students to compete against each other in basketball, softball, volleyball, touch football, track, field and bowling.

WSSU holds active membership with the (NCAA) National Collegiate Athletic Association, (CIAA) Central Intercollegiate Athletic Association, and the (NAIA) National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics.

EDDIE SAULS

Eddie Sauls

In today's world, Winston-Salem State University's Eddie Sauls is a rarity for a number of reasons. He has exemplified excellence in football as well as academics. He has done so well that he was honored with the NCAA Post Scholarship Award and the CIAA Post Scholarship Award.

Upon entering WSSU in 1980 as an unheralded defensive lineman, he set out to reach his goals and he hasn't stopped gaining yardage and winning honors yet, (since then) some of his awards in football include ALL CIAA, All NAIA District 26. Defensive Player of the Game (WSSU-vs-NCCU), CIAA Player of the Week (WSSU-vs-NCCU), ANTHONY OATES MEMORIAL AWARD for OUTSTANDING LINEBACKER, CIAA Sportswriters and Broadcasters Award, and CIAA Player of the year (100% Wrong Club, Atlanta Daily News)

Eddie, a senior political science major from Goldsboro, N.C., also holds the highest grade point average in his major, currently standing at 3.56, and he was awarded the Business Cluster Award in 1982. Along with being chosen for Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities. He is vice-president of Pi Gamma Mu, a social science honor society, and he also belongs to the Political Science Club and the Pre-Law society.

Eddie Sauls is a man who has determination along with the ability and diligence to help him succeed in life. The entire WSSU family salutes him and wishes him the best for the future. He has set a standard of excellence for future RAMS to live up to.

. . . No Not Football . . . Not Basketball . . . but Wrestling The Ram Salutes the 1984 CIAA Champions.

In the Rah and Hurrah of basketball and football, the sound of success from our wrestling team is drowned. For years our wrestling teams have been kept very much in the dark and or behind the scenes while yielding the CIAA Championship Award five times consecutively.

Coach Mike Edwards is the man behind the team. Coach Edwards has not only shown the team the tricks of the trade, but he has also instilled in each team member dedication, good sportsmanship, team pride, sincerity, and above all, leadership. The team won this year's title while Coach Edwards was hospitalized. WSSU is honored to have such an inspiring and outstanding influence.

Therefore, we the 1983-84 Yearbook Staff would like to dedicate this section of "The Ram" to the 1983-84 Wrestling Team and the man behind them — Coach Mike Edwards.

Winston-Salem State University can be compared to television programs in many ways. From sunrise to sunset there is an aura of excitement that fills the air.

The Dynasty in Blair Hall tends to give us a bit of soft soap which is the Facts of Life. And The Price Is never Right according to the Financial Aid Office when we are trying to register for this prestigious university. If you would like to see your Family Feud, call home and ask for an extra $1,000.00 that you need in order to register.

As the World Turns, we realize that we have only One Life to Live; therefore, we should be careful not to eat too much of the AfterMash in the cafe or our bodies will end up in General Hospital to be taken care of by the Doctors.

Whenever emergencies occur on campus, we can always count on (Dean) Benson to notify the Blues Brothers to solve the Bruce Street Blues.

Gimme A Break is a favorite response of the students after receiving tons of homework right before a game with our arch rival (A & T). Speaking of breaks, we are issued only one roll of sand paper per week, but it's like that and that's the way it is.

Some students do too much hanging out on the block. Surprisingly enough, some still manage to make the A-Team. We often get Dance Fever on the weekends. We can cure it by having Good Times at our local Soul Trains.

The Days of Our Lives are often highlighted with Loving at the Edge of Night. I am going to recommend WSSU to All My Children because it is the place to be if you are going to be what you want to be.

THANK YOU FOR A JOB WELL DONE. YOU WILL BE GREATLY MISSED.
1984 RAM STAFF

My Fellow Rams,

It is with a proud sense of accomplishment and gratitude that the staff and I were able to complete the 1984 Ram yearbook. We trust that this yearbook will be as cherishable to all of you as it is to us.

To my staff, I have sincerely enjoyed our year of working together. Your long hours, dedication and constant support along with our advisors' support were the driving force behind the successful completion of this year's Ram. Special thanks go from me to Janet, Prissy, Tweet, Puff, Mitzie, Pamela, Sona, Michangelo, Sandra, Jackie and Tangula for your kindness and understanding ways, without which the 1984 Ram would have been only a vision and not a reality.

To all Rams, if you ever need a friend or a shoulder to cry on and you can't make it home, you can find a small piece of home with our advisors, Cassandra Douglas and Beaufort Bailey. They are both dedicated to WSSU and the Ram, and if it had not been for their time, expertise, and shoulders to lean on, the making of the Ram would have been almost an impossible task, to these two people the staff says "God bless and we love you."

From the class of '87, who are entering to learn, to the class of '84, who are departing to serve, we are the theme here at WSSU. So with this in mind, we have arranged a sample of our culture, social life, and academics at ole SU. Within the red padded binders of this yearbook the reader can find WSSU shaping up and progressing for the future.

To my graduating class of 1984, I say congratulations and best wishes for a successful journey through life.

Rams, when you came by Room 103, in the Hall-Patterson building, to receive this yearbook, I bet that you had not thought about the amount of time already gone by for you at WSSU or how important this yearbook would become for you in the future. As the pictures spring to life and the words make their leap over the year, this yearbook contains your living memories of your time at WSSU. Therefore, keep this book close at hand for easy reference and recall of joyful times and events. If you do this you'll find that when you pick up this book five, ten, fifteen or twenty-five years from now, it will still be as fresh as the days you spent at WSSU.

Sincerely,

Paxton G. Hughes
